

Transatlantic's Anti-Harassment Policy

Transatlantic Agency supports those who confront bullying, harassment, intimidation and defamation both in their writing and in their daily lives. The agents of this agency believe we have a responsibility to work to protect our clients and agents from predatory behavior whether this abusive behavior takes place in a workplace environment, during school visits, at industry events or conventions, and whether it discriminates by gender, sexual orientation, ethnicity or countries of origin.